One magnificent evening, the 30th July (that is to say, three weeks after our departure), the frigate was abreast of the coast of Patagonia, thirty miles to leeward of the coast of Patagonia, crossed the tropic of Capricorn, and the Straits of Magellan opened less than seven hundred miles to the south. Eight days were over the Abraham Lincoln would be in the waters of the Pacific. Seated on the poop, Ned Land and I were chatting of one thing and another as we looked at the sea. I naturally led up the conversation to the unicorn, and examined the various chances of success or failure of the expedition. But

Seated on the poop, Ned Land and I were chatting of one thing and another as we looked at this mysterious sea, whose great depths had up to this time been inaccessible to us. But, seeing that Ned Land let me speak without saying too much of himself, I pressed him more closely. "Well, Ned, it is possible that you are not convinced of the existence of this cetacean that we are following? Have you any particular reason for being so incredulous?" The harpooner looked at me fixedly for some moments before answering, struck his hand (a habit of his), as if to collect himself, and said at last, "Perhaps I have, Mr. Aronnax." En activant l'option « petites capitales » les lettres bas-de-casse sont transformées en petites capitales et les chiffres alignés en chiffres elzéviens.

L'option « tout en petites capitales » disponible dans l'onglet OpenType convertira également les capitales en petites capitales.

La position et les approches de la ponctuation sont automatiquement corrigées pour s'adapter aux petites capitales quand vous sélectionnez l'une ou l'autre de ces options.

Le zéro barré est disponible sur l'ensemble des jeux de chiffres.

Les chiffres alignés sont utilisés par défaut.

Les chiffres tabulaires sont de largeurs identiques, ils peuvent être utiles lors de la composition de tableaux.

La position des devises et des symboles mathématiques se corrige automatiquement selon le jeu de chiffres activé.
